ONE MAN LEFT IN SOLE CHARGE OF UNION

CRISIS!

Vote for rent strike

There will be rent strikes, catering boycotts, possible occupations and demonstrations at the University next term in support of the Grants Campaign.

Motions to this effect were passed by overwhelming majorities at yesterday's University Union Special General Meeting.

An attempt was made at the SGM to change a Union byelaw and enable Union Council meetings to be quorate in the event of the Union Executive being unable to attend if half of UC's membership is present.

Although passed at the SGM the motion proposing this change was later ruled out of order by a solicitor since it did not form part of the meeting's special business.

EIGHT EXEC MEMBERS THROWN OUT

The University Union is facing the most serious constitutional crisis in its history.

The President and all of the Executive officers except Cultural Affairs Secretary, Waxum Daswani have been sacked from office.

by Nick Witchell

to no-confidence Executive: "This is a very serious crisis, nothing like it has ever happen before. Unless the Executive are returned to office on Wednesday, management of the Union might have to be taken over by the University."

Trouble began at the OGM when Union House Secretary Carol Jelley proposed a motion of no confidence in Mr Daswani on the grounds of his incompetence and failure to discharge his responsibilities as Cultural Affairs Secretary.

An amendment was immediately proposed by ex-Union President Abdul Hai expressing confidence in Mr Daswani and noting his creative activities and attempts to involve societies and ordinary members in the Arts Festival.

A second amendment resolving to no-confidence every elected member of the Executive except Mr Daswani and demanding their resignation within seven days was then proposed by Jeff Ball, a second year Computer Science student.

Elitism

Proposing his motion Mr Ball spoke of the 'secrecy and elitism of the Executive and their failure to involve ordinary student members in Union decision-making.

The first amendment was passed after which the amended motion was carried by 111 votes to 91.

During chaotic scenes following the decision, Mr Daswani commented that he was too overcome to say anything. "I cannot find words to express my feelings," he said.

Ex-Union President Andy Jarosz said: "It was passed in a fit of pique by a lot of people who believed Exec. was trying to no-confidence Mr Daswani. In fact it was a private motion by Carol Jelley and did not represent Executive feeling as a whole".

The former Executive have called for an S.G.M. to be held at 1.15 pm today in the Refectory to rediscuss the matter and reverse the decision of no confidence in them.

Intolerable

Mr. Jarosz continued "If the S.G.M. does not ratify our reappointment the Union will continue with one Executive Officer for 2 month until new elections can be held in February. If this happens the burden on him will be intolerable."

There is the added question of whether the Union's 90 permanent members of staff will be prepared to work under such conditions. Normally they are responsible to the University Bursar through the President.

A member of the permanent staff said: "At the moment we are continuing as normal. Our loyalties are to the students as a whole but if the Executive is not returned there will have to be a reappraisal of the situation."

One of the motion's other supporters, Mr Peter Braham, a post graduate in Philosophy and a member of the Organisation of Revolutionary Anarchists said: "We are determined to kick Executive out. Their failure to get through to ordinary students is reflected in, amongst other things, the low attendance at most OGM's."

During a spate of emergency meetings to discuss the sacking, the Union's Communist Party has come out on Executive's side while the Black and Red Group and International Marxist Group are against them being reinstated. The International Socialists are split.

We say

All but one of the University Union's Exec were thrown out of office at Monday's OGM, after being accused of ignoring general meetings, and of being incompetent, elitist, and secretive.

What is most alarming is that no evidence has been offered to support these charges. This is because there is none.

This year's Exec may not be an outstanding one, but it is not guilty of the high-sounding charges which were bandied around in a mood of euphoric hysteria on Monday.

These were simply to disguise the real motive which was a politically opportunist move by Revolutionary Anarchists and International Socialists to manipulate more gullible students in undermining the structure of the Union.

Let's get these officers reinstated so that activities such as the Grants Campaign and Arts Festival, both of which are at a crucial stage, can be given full-time attention by competent people over the Christmas vacation.

£100 RISE IN GRANTS EXPECTED

Substantial increases in student grants and a reduction in parental contributions are expected to be announced by the Government next year.

It is thought that grants will be increased by about 22 per cent. The National Union of Students is demanding 35 per cent.

Last week the Committee of University Vice-Chancellors called for an increase of 30 per cent. However because of the present economic situation the Government may find it difficult to raise grants by as much as it would like.

Doctor bird top debater

Helen Critchlow, a 22 year old Leeds medical student, outtalked her male and female competition last week.

In the County finals of the West Riding Federation of Young Farmer's Clubs debating competition to take the president's award for the best speaker.

Socialist student killed

Michael William Hodder, 20 year old University Chemistry finalist, was killed in a road crash on Saturday when the motor-cycle he was riding collided with a car near Bolton Abbey.

Mr Hodder was President of the Union Motor Cycle Club and Chairman of the Young Socialists Students Society. Last year he was an unsuccessful candidate for the post of Union Secretary.

It is believed that Norman St John Stevas, before leaving his post as under-secretary for higher education at the Department of Education and Science, recommended increases which will allow students to keep pace with the rising cost of living.

He has also suggested additions to the grants of married women students and further tax allowances for parents contributing to their children's grants. But any major reduction on parental contributions will mean that there is less in the kitty for an increase in the mandatory grant which now stands at £485.

Parental contributions will not be abolished completely but the will be progressively reduced over the next two years and are eventually expected to be abolished altogether.

Parents will probably not have to start contributing towards grants until their income exceeds £1,800. The present limit is £1,400.

Marxists run riot in loo

The University Union International Marxist Group is to be billed for £93 worth of damage to the Lipman building after their disco on Thursday evening.

Amongst the damage is a bill for £70 for a toilet which is said to have been ripped from the wall.

Union President charged with drunken driving

by IAN COXON

The Poly Union President is to appear in court charged with drunken driving.

Julian Stevenson
Poly Union President

Julian Stevenson was stopped by the police two months ago when driving a union-owned mini-bus along Victoria Road, Headingley, Leeds.

Another Union Exec member, House Committee Chairman Ashley Hart, has been cautioned by police for behaviour liable to cause a breach of the peace and obstruction of the public highway after last week's demonstration outside the Queen's Hotel, Leeds, when three students were arrested.

Earlier this term Mr Hart was cautioned for careless driving when he was involved in a collision on Woodhouse Lane, Leeds, while driving a Union van.

Computerised bomb hoax

A bomb hoax at the Polytechnic on Monday was traced by police to the college's own computer department.

Police ordered the building to be closed when the chief administrative officer Dr. Tony Hamblin received a letter saying that a bomb planted in the building was to go off at 5 p.m.

Later it was decided not close the building when it was discovered that the letter had come from the computer department.

Cautioned for spitting

University student Peter Izat received a formal caution from the police this week after having been apprehended for spitting in a public place.

Mr Izat was attempting to demonstrate his skill at this activity by spitting across Woodhouse Lane, Leeds, when he was apprehended by a patrolling panda car.

STUDENT WORLD

York

A University Union General Meeting voted last week to hold a rent strike in college owned accommodation next term.

But not all university unions are following the recent National Union of Students call for nationwide rent strikes. Students at Warwick and Durham have voted against rent strikes.

Oxford

The traditionally male dominated Union Society has elected its third woman librarian. She is 20 year old Christine Pemberton of Austhorpe, Leeds. Miss Pemberton is a third year english student at the university's St. Annes College.

Liverpool

The northern premiere of Dr. Martin Cole's film "Sexual Intercourse is Coming" could not take place at the University Union as planned because Dr. Cole failed to come himself. His non appearance was due to fog on the M6 motorway.

The Union was said to be packed in anticipation of the showing. Plans have now been made to show the film next term.

Sheffield

The Union is urging the university to offer a teaching position to the Chilean Marxist Intellectual Louis Vitale.

He is currently imprisoned in Chile.

Birmingham

A General Meeting of the Union has demanded the removal of Mr. Enoch Powell from the University's Court of Governors.

It has also demanded that the Union should not give a platform for racists and fascists to speak. One of the motion's proposers argued that freedom of speech for people such as Mr. Powell denied freedom of speech, action and even life for many minorities in our society.

Warwick

The University authorities are to urge the Department of Education and Science to increase the real level of grants to that of 1962.

In a statement they say the present standard of living for students is in many cases so low that it seriously affects a student's capacity to benefit from higher education.

Arts

Carry on crap

Carry on Girls
ODEON 1

No wonder British film comedy is dead. No wonder the British film industry is dying.

'Carry on Girls' is a free-form artistic event. Free-form because you can do what you like while the film's being shown; artistic because anything goes.

You pay your money and take your seat, but beyond that you have to create what will happen. You can smoke cigarettes, drink in the bar, kiss your partner. You can go home.

But as the night is probably cold and your rip-off accommodation is poorly heated you may as well remain for the duration. In which case, questions might flit through your mind. Are the French cinephiles correct in their adulation of the 'Carry On' genre? Is Gerald Thomas, director ordinaire, a hitherto unknown auteur? Does Sid James' laugh form part of our national heritage? Is Barbara Windsor really 103?

And what about those gorgeous girls! Those women really are a handful! Feeling hungry? — have a pair! Yes, tits really are the funniest thing since the Three Stooges. This film is the stuff family entertainment is made of. Titter titter. N.T.

A titillating scene from "All the Loving Couples"

Sophisticated sexploits

Although, with certain notable exceptions, the films at the Plaza are noted more for their heavy-handed attempts at sexual humour than for their subtlety and wit, there are occasions when the sex film reaches areas more sophisticated than normal. In this category is "All the Loving Couples."

It is not one for the dirty mackintosh brigade as the sex scenes do not go into any explicit detail; it may be, since

All the Loving Couples

the film is only 72 minutes long, that any such detail has been lost. However the merit of the film is not in any sexual understatement, but in the frequently highly amusing American attitude to wife-swapping. Especially in the early part of the film, the humour has a lightness of touch which is refreshing and attractive.

It is unfortunate that this deftness should be sacrificed for a moral statement laid on with an extremely large trowel to show that there is honour even among wife-swappers: it's all right so long as you don't talk about business.

It's quite enjoyable really if your standards aren't too high. J.M.

Plain bad revue

POLY DRAMA SOCIETY

'We Do It Because It's There', the title of Leeds Poly Drama Society's Christmas Review, is truer than they think. There seems to be no reasoning behind it other than the desire to justify the Drama Soc's existence.

It's plain bad; the writing ranging from dull to inane, the performers spanning the whole-breadth of human emotion from A to B.

It proves nothing, to lift other writers' material without sensitive interpretation. Why bother? My school did Julius Caesar better, and got a few more laughs. A.M.

Fresh Renaissance

RENAISSANCE: "Ashes for Burning"
'American Graffiti'
SOVEREIGN

Renaissance was originally formed by Keith Relf, of the Yardbirds, who, with his sister Jane, Yardbird drummer Jim McCarty, and pianist John Hawken, managed to produce a group with a remarkably fresh sound for the time.

The new Renaissance has an entirely different line-up to the original but the freshness remains. In these times of 'Belt it out' bands, it's good to know that there are people that don't rely on decibels to move their audiences.

The flowing keyboard style of John Trout provides most of the warmth of this recording, yet it's never over-lush or sentimental. Annie Haslam's crystal vocals provide the drive to make this album worthy of note. The musicians in Renaissance may have changed since the band's inception but the spirit is still there. Don't miss 'Ashes for Burning'.

Another enjoyable album obtainable from your friendly store is 'American Graffiti', the sound track to the movie. The film relates an evening in the life of some 'Fifties kids, and the album is the predictable selection of old classics. A good deal of care has gone into the compilation, though, and such gems as 'Green Onions', 'Rock around the Clock', and 'Barbra Anne', are included. (You thought the Beachboys made the original?) The programming of the LP is intelligently done, and it's almost worth the price to hear good old tracks in stereo.

Ten-pin champs

The University ten-pin bowling team were victorious in this year's UAU championships at Nottingham last week, when they beat Hull and Salford by 80 pins.

Good all round performances came from all members of the team, especially from Barthorpe with a 9-game average of 173, Stacey with an average of 169, and Fitzgerald who lost the high game by one pin with a score of 225.

After some brilliant doubles and trios bowling, the Leeds team were ahead by over 200 pins, but this lead was soon whittled down in the five-man series. But the team, relatively inexperienced

Thrashing

The University Rugby Union team were given a considerable 42 points to 4 thrashing by Headingley last week.

Most of the possession went to Headingley, and Leeds were unable to rally any serious opposition to the strong forwards and backs of their opponents.

in the UAU championship, rallied well to clinch a great victory over the last two frames.

In the WIVAB section, the Leeds' ladies managed to finish a fine fourth.

SHAKY MAIN

LEEDS 3 ... SHEFFIELD FALCONS 3

An unspectacular 3-3 draw was the result of the University soccer sides game against Sheffield Falcons last week.

The Leeds defence looked suspect from the start, and although it was good to see the return of goalkeeper Main after his recent illness, he too looked shaky.

The first goal came after twenty minutes when Main failed to get down to a speculative 30 yard drive from the Sheffield attack, and allowed it to trickle through his legs into the net. Despite several chances, notably those of Forster and Bradford, the University were unable to break down a resolute Sheffield defence, and went in at half time trailing by one goal to nil.

Early in the second half, Falcons went further ahead.

A long through ball caught the Leeds defenders very square, and the opposition's centre forward easily defeated Main with a low ground shot.

A goal by Forster soon after put the University back into the match, but again their defence let them down. Another long through ball took them by surprise and the Sheffield winger steered the ball easily past the advancing Main.

Minutes afterwards, trouble flared off the ball and Leeds

Two ordered off in tense stalemate

man Bradford and a Sheffield defender were unceremoniously ordered off the field. With both teams reduced to ten men, the game became even more niggly, and Russell was forced to move upfield to try and lend his weight to the flagging attack.

With fifteen minutes to go, Allen made it 2-3 with a magnificent drive into the top corner. Play was now fast and furious at both ends, and with five minutes remaining Joughin capped a fine display for Leeds with a brilliant 30 yard chip over the Sheffield 'keeper to earn the University a well-deserved draw.

Poly move further towards cup final

LEEDS 56 ... SHEFFIELD 3

The Poly Rugby Union team completely overran Sheffield Poly last week in their final qualifying game for the last sixteen of the British Polytechnics Cup competition winning by a magnificent 56 points to 3.

There was little doubt after the first five minutes that Leeds were in command.

The Poly back row forwards, in particular Willis, ensured that every ruck and maul was won by Leeds. Every member of the team had some constructive part in the scoring of the numerous tries which followed one after the other.

Mortain win league

Mortain are the new unbeaten, champions of the University Saturday Soccer league. Out of eight games played this term they have won seven and drawn one.

M & D and Corant are both relegated, and Hey and Engineers move up from Division Two.

In the Wednesday league, Sadler finished at the top. Charles Morris and Lyddon are promoted from Division Two to replace the relegated Chemistry and Woodsley.

Picked for North

University Hockey Vice-captain Norman Hughes, has been selected to play for the North of England in an inter-regional tournament to be held at Derby on December 16th.

POLY ON TOP IN DERBY

The Poly Soccer 2nd XI notched up another good win last week when they beat Kitson College by 3 goals to 2 at Adel.

Played on a freezing pitch, the game got off to a tentative start. But soon the combined force of Green in defence and Mullock, Bugla and Berresford up front saw the Poly gradually working their way on top. Ace marksman Curley cleverly dribbled round the defence and turned the ball past the Kitson 'keeper.

Soccer

A quick follow-up goal by Kitson just before half-time reverted the balance somewhat, and both sides went in equal.

After the interval, the Poly started well and soon regained the lead. A strong shot by Bugla was parried by the keeper and Smith came in to slot the ball comfortably into the net. Shortly afterwards the Poly narrowly missed another chance to go further ahead when Curley headed just over the bar from a cross by Bugla.

Kitson managed to turn the tide again with a well hit goal midway through the half, but the Poly replied almost immediately and knocked in the winner.

LEEDS LOSE PLAY-OFF TO WEARSIDERS

Golfers trounce Bradford

The University golf team trounced a poor Bradford team last week 9-0.

Bradford conceded the foursomes, and then their five players in the afternoon, all lost by scorelines ranging from seven and six to four and two.

Leeds' previous match against Salford was abandoned due to snow after the morning foursomes, which were lost 2-1. The replay will take place sometime in February.

The University Men's Hockey team suffered a close two goals to one defeat by Durham University in the UAU Championship play-off game at Weetwood last week.

The Leeds side made one of their worst starts this season, and the sharper, more enthusiastic Durham team soon had them reeling under a series of lightning attacks which saw them two goals ahead in the first fifteen minutes.

The home defence was never confident, and Leeds were lucky to go in with only this two goal deficit at half-time.

In the second half, the visitors found themselves under increasing pressure as Leeds attempted valiantly to raise their game. The Durham defence did a magnificent job, however, and it was not until the final few minutes that Leeds gained some reward for their labours. Fulton pounced on a loose ball not far from the visitors' goal and cracked in a great shot to pull one back.

A few days later, the same team hammered York Hockey Club 3-2 in the Yorkshire Cup.

Displaying no hangover from their previous defeat,

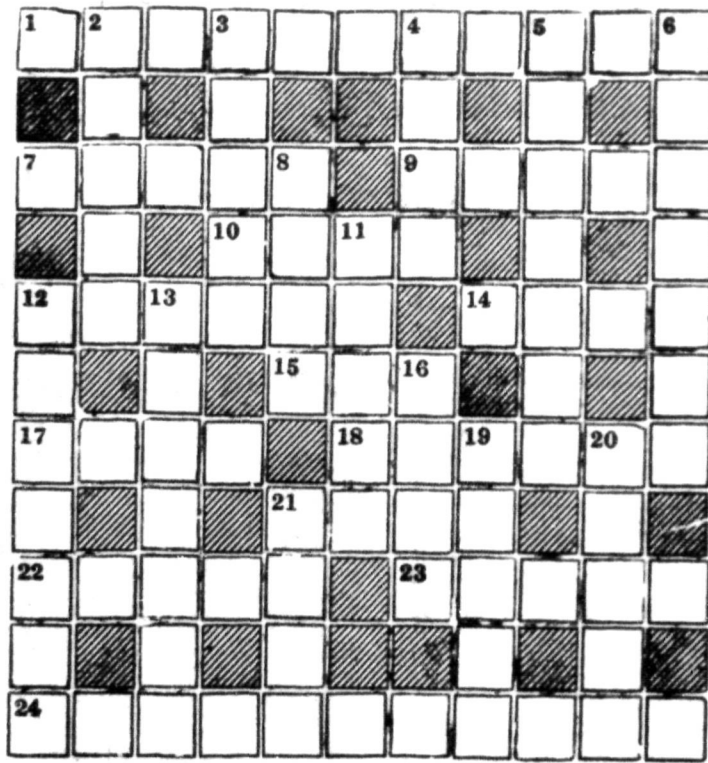

Leeds launched into the game right from the start, and easily outpaced their opponents. Skilled work by Rice on the left wing brought an accurate cross which Fulton lost no time in putting away to give Leeds their first goal.

After half-time, Musflett put the University two ahead with a fine opportunist goal, but a fortunate rebound for York went past the Leeds' keeper and brought them right back into the game.

But from a long corner Hughes for the University side slipped the ball through to Cox who fired in a fierce shot past the York 'keeper. Another lucky goal by York in the final minute was not enough to alter the final scoreline.

Good ride in London

The University women's riding team travelled down to London last week for their first ever tour match and beat strong London and Essex teams to take the overall victory. The team, Donaldson (capt.) Bayles and Jones, rode superbly in both the dressage and show-jumping events, and Donaldson came away with the individual title.
