- Sarah Davidge quoted in the Guardian *print version* - Anita Bhagwandas Beauty Q&A I love to wear makeup, but my partner hates it – should I stop? – Sarah Davidge at Women's Aid agrees: "A relationship should be based on trust and mutual respect. Without limits being placed on your self-expression. If your partner is not acknowledging these boundaries and refusing to respect your choices, it could be coercive behaviour, which is a form of domestic abuse."
