

Media round-up: 26th January 2024

Our work in the news

- Natalie Curtis, Women's Aid survivor ambassador, quoted in the Mirror - Sir Jim Ratcliffe plots Man Utd fire sale including Mason Greenwood and three team-mates
 - Natalie Curtis, a survivor of domestic abuse who spoke to The Telegraph via Women's Aid last summer, believes that no club should be allowed to profit in the circumstances, despite the 22-year-old not being prosecuted. "It seems wrong that anyone should profit from the Mason Greenwood situation that has been horrific for survivors," Curtis said. "If anything, if there is a transfer fee, it should be donated to a domestic abuse charity such as Women's Aid."

Social Media Update

Twitter:

- Victims and Prisoners Bill thread (22 likes, 6 retweets, 1,635 impressions)
- DAC quote tweet (95 likes, 51 retweets, 6,246 impressions)

Facebook:

- Bath Marathon (18 likes, 3 comments, 4,073 people reached)