Youth.

Silver and green of spring,
And the blithe carolling
Of many birds that sing
Songs I will make.
Sunshine shall follow rain,
And from your lips again
Smoothed shall be the pain,
Laughter shall break.

I am Love's singer, I!
In golden ecstasy
My voice is melody,
Flame-winged my feet;
Eyes that face unafraid
Love's dart or warrior's blade;
Laughter my lips hath made;
Joy knows them sweet.

Strong are my limbs to go
Through wastes of heat or snow;
Swift as the water's flow
Cleave they the air;
Scented as flowers are they,
White as the fallen May,
Rose-flushed as dawning day,
Rounded and fair.

God the sun's gracious light
And the white star-lit night
Fashioned for my delight.
From north to south
All things that move and be,
Grey hill and rolling sea,
Join in their praise of me;
Lo I am Youth!
Death only feareth me:
Lo I am Youth!
