THE JOURNAL OF THE UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS.

"The Gryphon never spreadeth her wings in the sunne when she hath any sicke feathers: yet have wee ventured to present our exercises before your judgements when wee know them full well of weak matter; yielding ourselves to the curtesie which wee have ever found than to the preciseness which wee ought to feare."—LYLY.

EDITORIAL FOREWORD.

IN response to many requests we reprint a selection of the black and white sketches and caricatures which have appeared in the Gryphon during the past few years. Substantially this issue is a reproduction of the Cohen Supplement which has been out of print for some time; there are, however, one or two additions, and several drawings have been omitted, partly on account of expense and partly on account of their being of little interest now.

The next and last issue of the journal this session will be of the usual type, and we hope to receive sufficient contributions to exercise our editorship—which we much prefer in these degenerate days to authorship.

Contributions may be sent in up to May 25th.
